

The Power of Power

I RECOGNIZE WITH GRATITUDE THE POWER OF POWER THAT GIVES ME WHAT I NEED TO CREATE MY WORLD AND TO EXPERIENCE SELF-MASTERY

MOTHER'S DAY: CELEBRATING THE GIFTS OF MATERNAL LOVE: Maternal love in its purest form is nurturing, gentle, compassionate and kind, yet fierce, protective and invested in the well-being of the one who receives this love. The gifts that come from this powerful commitment are many. Today we celebrate our mothers and the motherly, those who pour their hearts into this honorable role and who create a foundation of love that give us roots and wings.

Just as God is our Father, so God is also our Mother.

IMPORTANT POINTS of the Divine Feminine

- ♥ MOTHER GOD - PERFECT, UNCONDITIONAL LOVE ALWAYS for ALL, ALWAYS WITH YOU
- ♥ HUMAN MOTHERS – Beautifully Imperfect doing the best with what is provided by the universe, Unconditional love for child, Always with you forever in action and memory

Mother's Day is such a wonderful opportunity to celebrate all the amazing mothers of the Universe. Thank you Mothers, everywhere, for the amazing job you've done aligning with the sacred energy of the Divine Feminine. Thank you for loving, nurturing, and caring for us all; And thank you for selflessly helping to set into motion each of our own unique spiritual journey's through life on earth .

Mothers Day In A New Spiritual Light

Spiritually speaking, Mother's Day is not only a celebration of our earthly mothers, but an opportunity to celebrate and consciously reconnect with the energies of the Divine Feminine . . . To look beyond the physical, where we can see our unique connection and oneness with the creative energy of life that goes beyond what we can even comprehend. Where we can connect with honor and celebrate the same Divine Feminine light that brightly shines within all mothers. That although perhaps less noticed, shines brightly within us all. The Divine Feminine energy that is quite simply, Unconditional Love. The Divine Feminine that is nurturing, compassion, and grace. That is the magnetic container in which all creation is held. The Divine Feminine energy that is understanding insight, intuition, creativity, forgiveness, healing and wisdom.

And so this Mother's Day, there's a new opportunity, that really has been here all along. It's the opportunity to reconnect with the presence of the Divine Feminine within. Where the true power of unconditional love lives. Just waiting to reconnect, embrace, love and nurture us all!

And so, this Mother's Day . . . Celebrate Mothers, of course, but also celebrate the light of the Divine Feminine, shining and re-emerging within you and within us all! Begin to notice and become aware of just how loved, blessed, and supported you really are!!

Story: "LOVE YOU FOREVER"

Robert Munsch (Author), Sheila McGraw (Illustrator)

A young woman holds her newborn son And looks at him lovingly.

Softly she sings to him:
"I'll love you forever
I'll like you for always
As long as I'm living
My baby you'll be."

Discussion:

- 1) What does a mother mean to you?
- 2) Do you have any special memories with mother that you would like to share?
- 3) What would be one wish you would have for your mother and why?

Background of Book: Heartbreaking and beautiful true story behind the story?

Writing The Book Helped The Author Grieve. Munsch, came up with the book's most famous lines ("I'll love you forever, I'll like you for always, as long as I'm living, my baby you'll be") as a way to privately grieve the loss of two of his children. His wife delivered two stillborn babies within a short succession, and the overwhelming sorrow felt unbearable to Munsch. As a way to cope with his feelings, he created this private poem that he would say aloud to himself, saying that it was his "way of crying." It's a beautiful tribute to the two children that Munsch and his wife lost

Bible Reference:

"As a mother comforts her child, so will I comfort you; you shall be comforted in Jerusalem." (Isaiah 66:13) God as nursing mother, (Isaiah 49:15), and God's children as newborn infants (1 Peter 2:2). God who is pregnant and gives birth (Isaiah 46:3-4, Deuteronomy 32:18, John 3:5). God as a woman in labor (Isaiah 42:14), and God as the midwife delivering a child (Psalm 22:8-10).

Prayer:

O God, both Father and Mother of us all, we thank you for the many ways you teach us about yourself. Thank you for nurturing, loving, and protecting us more fiercely than the best mother. Thank you for giving us so many women who reflect you as they nurture, love, and protect those around them. Guide us as we seek to understand and to imitate you in our lives. Amen.

MY SPIRITUAL JOURNEY CHALLENGE: MY SPIRITUAL JOURNEY CHALLENGE: Write about, paint a picture, or take/find a photo of 3 places that grow your awareness of God. Place your creation in a location where you can see it. Contemplate the energy and intention you feel when you are in those places and why you feel closer to Spirit. If desired, make time to share your creation with someone you are close to, and if possible, take them with you to one of your spiritually grounded places so you can share this experience with another human spirit.

The Roots Of The Divine Feminine

The divine feminine is the spiritual concept that there exists a feminine counterpart to the masculine structures. The divine feminine refers to the energy that exists within and without us that is softer, nurturing, intuitive, and empowered. In thoughts of energy, it can be found in the moon, the ocean, the trees, and within us. It is who we are when we are wild and untamed, it is also who we are when we are soft and still. The divine feminine is the counterpart to the divine masculine and when they are harmonized, we can live in balance, beauty, and knowledge. And, it has not Gender.

The divine feminine has ancient roots across many civilizations for centuries. In history we see references in Ancient Greeks and the Romans text, into African and Egyptian practices, and in later religions like Catholicism, Christianity, Hinduism, and Buddhism, we still see goddess figures (the Virgin Mary, Kali, Tara, Dakinis, etc).

In the ancient world women were considered the matriarch and sat in priestess roles and religious leaders. The earth itself was seen as the great mother and women's power was linked to that.

There are many elements that are considered attributes of the feminine like intuition, compassion, nurturing, creativity. Getting in touch with the divine feminine and welcoming elements into your life can be hugely beneficial to your body, mind, and soul. By weaving the divine feminine into your life, you can find better balance and a more fulfilled existence. By allowing divine feminine qualities to seep in, you not only make your own space a better place to be in, but you also send that energy of love, compassion, and creativity out into the universe - which can help to bring symmetry to our universe.

There is both divine masculine and divine feminine energy in this world and we all have these energies running through us. Some may feel more connected to their masculine energy and others will be connected to their divine feminine. Striking a balance between both is key - if you have a lack of divine feminine energy you may find you are overly dominating and always pushing. Too much feminine and perhaps you get too passive and struggle to move a situation forward. By finding balance in both, you can find more harmony and beauty in life.

It's important to remember the themes and lessons that run in the current of the divine feminine. It's not about gender or binary or adhering to pre-determined concepts and ideals, the divine feminine is more about embracing balance in our lives and saying yes to yin energy. It's about recognizing our intuitive strengths, finding softness, sparking creativity, and encouraging love, self-care and community. Truly, the well-being of the world will be better for it.

I Want To Be Like My Mom

I want to be like my Mom.

My Mommy is super tall and can reach stuff up high.
She can drive a car and take me to my favorite places.

She loves me very much!

She helps me get food from the freezer.

She gives me hugs and kisses and buys me toys.

She makes me feel better when I'm feeling bad.

She patches up my boo boos when I hurt myself.

She plays games with me at Chuck E. Cheese and she makes my favorite foods to eat.

She helps me with a lot of stuff, that's why I want to be like my Mom.

I love my Mommy; she's the Best!

A Poem for Our Mothers

Mothers are great,
Mothers are smart,
Mothers love us with all their heart.
When we are happy or when we are sad,
They never fail to make us glad.
They always listen to us and share some advice never failing to add a lil spice to our life.
They lift us up when we are feeling down,
Always turning a frown upside down.
Thank you for the love, care, and support you give.
WE LOVE YOU!

Reflections on Mother

by Kyra Baehr

Listen to the rhythm of your heartbeat –
the same heart that is the heart of the Mother,
the heart of the Cosmos.
Listen to the rhythm of the ocean,
the whisper of the wind,
the silence of the sleeping desert
and know ...

you are one with the sacred mother earth.

Listen to the wisdom in your own being,

hear the sounds of the murmuring voice within and remember ...
you are the sacred mother expressing her Divine Feminine love in every moment of life and in All

That is.

Listen to the rhythm of your heartbeat and find the connection to the sacred mother of your birthing here on earth.

For all mothers that we are, for all mothers that we love,
for all mothers that we know as One,
we honor your gift of life and love
and we give thanks.
